INTRODUCTION

It is known that English language is common in our country as well as many countries for many years. Interests and requirements of learning English language among teenagers rises dramatically. Therefore we need to some kind of effective methods of teaching basic english for children of kindergartens and primary schools in order to make English language more easier. Because, some children do not use second language effectively. In the textbook, importance of learning second language and new strategies for instructors will be indicated one by one.

Children need to learn second language. Because it helps to children progress faster. Kindergartens have their programme in a overseas language, this programme is consist of afternoon, morning exercises which is obviously better since attention and concentration of children are much higher. The length of per lessen lasts between 20-30 minutes. Children are divided into groups according to ages and knowledge. The first group is 3-4 years old children and second group is 5-6 years group children. (B. Klimova . 2013)

Teaching ESL to beginners: Begin with teaching children the fundamentals like numbers and alphabet before teaching to phonics and basic grammars. Instructors must speak to their students in English using simple sentences like " Repeat after me" , "Finish this sentence". They need to start the lesson with teaching alphabet and numbers which is a great background for the future learning. There are a lot of methods for teaching basic elements easily. First one is try to use flashcards with a word that begins with each letters of alphabet to boost lesson. It might be easier to speakers if teachers use native language Latin or English alphabet. Second one is using fingers when it comes to numbers, start by teaching your students to count up.

One of the importance of basic English is teaching pronunciation which is essential part of learning language. Pay an attention sounds that are particularly hard to English as a second language. Methods for teaching pronunciation: "TH"(like in "theater" or "thing") it is hard to pronounce . When we pronounce TH, we try to use our speech organs effectively. (Academia and Janice. 2024). Generally, teachers must focus on their each students' constitutions while the lesson and they train with each pupils of class. Make sure, your students whether understand everything or not at the end of the lesson.

Teachers need to ask their students about theme is interesting or not. They can know about this with asking questions like "Did you understand?", " Does anyone have questions?". Answer to these questions clarify how students are really feeling. Another strategy of being lesson interestingly is break lessons into small pieces. When teaching beginners or very young pupils, divided the lesson into several pieces about 10 minutes, this helps to ensure that teachers do not lose their students' attention or overwhelming them.

The most essential points of methods is saying students that is okey to make mistakes. Because a lot of students are afraid of answering teacher because of shying or being under the comic situations. Learning a new language is not easy but few encouragement from teachers to their students encourage to learn more and more. Apart from these strategies, constructors can organize games which is related to topics. Because it helps students to learn English by providing a fun and thinking in new and different ways.(Academia and Janice. 2024).

CONCLUSION: Learning basic english plays vital role to improve stage of knowledge. In this textbook, we try to introduce successful methods of second language education. Some strategies are indicated turn by turn which is checked out at the kindergartens and influenced children powerfully.
