

ENHANCEMENT OF SPEAKING STYLE IN ENGLISH

Nosirova Surayyo

A first-year student at the Uzbekistan State World Languages in the Faculty of Philology and Teaching English, located in the Uchtepa district of Tashkent Phone number: +998998113530 Email: surayon8@gmail.com

Annotation: Today, knowing how to speak English is in demand for all types of work and jobs. That is why all students want to learn speaking skills to become better speakers. They should focus on enhancing their speaking abilities. Therefore, a strong focus on practicing and refining English speaking skills is crucial for anyone aiming to stand out in this global world

Key words: public speaking, vocabulary, shadowing, social media, fluency, ideoma.

Аннотация: Сегодня умение говорить по-английски востребовано для всех видов работы и профессий. Вот почему все студенты хотят овладеть разговорными навыками, чтобы стать лучшими ораторами. Они должны сосредоточиться на улучшении своих разговорных способностей». Таким образом, сильный акцент на практике и совершенствовании разговорных навыков английского языка имеет решающее значение для всех, кто стремится выделиться в этом глобальном мире

Ключевое слово: Ораторское искусство, словарный запас, шэдоунг (или подражание), социальные сети, беглость речи, фразеологизм

Annotatsiya: Bugungi kunda ingliz tilida gapira olish barcha turdagi soha va kasblar uchun talab qilinadi. Shuning uchun barcha talabalar yaxshiroq so'zlovchi bo'lish uchun gapirish ko'nikmalarini o'rganishni xohlaydilar. Ular o'zlarining gapirish qobiliyatlarini rivojlantirishga e'tibor qaratishlari kerak. Jahon miqyosida ajralib turishni istagan har bir kishi uchun ingliz tilida gapirish ko'nikmalarini mashq qilish va takomillashtirishga kuchli e'tibor berishi juda muhimdir.

Kalit so'z: ommaviy nutq so'zlash, lug'at boyligi, so'zma-so'z taqlid qilish, ijtimoiy tarmoqlar, erkin so'zlash, idioma (ibora)

Today, if a person wants to communicate with others, they should be able to speak English smoothly. However, many students face different challenges when it comes to speaking. Some have pronunciation issues, others struggle with grammar, and some lack the necessary vocabulary.

First of all, the best way to improve English speaking skills is by enhancing pronunciation. Often, students don't realize why their conversation partner can't understand them—it's because their pronunciation isn't clear, or their accent is too heavy. To address this problem, we have some solutions. One effective technique is shadowing.

Shadowing is a language learning method where you listen to a native speaker and immediately repeat what they say, trying to match their pronunciation, intonation, and rhythm as closely as possible. This technique helps improve listening skills, pronunciation, and fluency, as it encourages you to mimic the natural flow of the language. Shadowing is often used to build speaking confidence and accuracy, especially when learning a new language.

If students practice shadowing consistently for two months, their speech will become clearer and easier to understand. There are many resources for practicing shadowing, such as podcasts, movies, and platforms that make practice engaging. You won't get bored, as there are so many interesting options! For example, YouTube, BBC News, and TED Talks offer great collections of podcasts that you can use. These podcasts cover a variety of topics in science, life, and society, so you can also gain new skills while practicing.

Additionally, if you prefer, you can practice with movies, short dramas, and comedies. For example, Forrest Gump, The Pursuit of Happyness, Finding Nemo, The Devil Wears Prada, and Notting Hill are films that stand out due to their unique qualities. Let's take The Pursuit of Happyness as an example—it's a very emotional film with clear speech, making it suitable mostly for teenagers. For children who are learning English, Finding Nemo is the best choice. It has many adventures and fantastic elements, which makes it enjoyable and useful for practice. Students should expand their vocabulary. When most students speak, they often say words like "umm," "uhh," "hmm," "maybe," "like," or "kinda." This damages their speech significantly. Although these words can help to organize thoughts, overusing them should be avoided. Instead of relying on these fillers, learners should focus on learning new words so they don't pause while speaking. As a result, their speech will become smoother.

Many people think that new words are not beneficial for speaking because they can't use them naturally. However, if they practice using these words in context repeatedly, they will become natural over time. To achieve natural-sounding speech, learners should use more idiomatic language and expressions. For example, instead of saying something is "easy," they can say "a piece of cake." If someone feels sick, they could say "under the weather" rather than simply "feeling sick." Idioms make speech sound more natural.

Idioms are common in everyday speech but are rarely the subject of psychological research. They appear in every language. For instance, Weinreich (1969) notes that a Russian phraseological dictionary lists more than 25,000 entries. In general, linguists have dealt with idiomaticity as a semi-productive pattern within generative grammar (e.g., Katz & Postal, 1964; Weinreich, 1969). This study approaches idioms from the perspective of information processing rather than linguistic analysis and is concerned with comprehension rather than production. The most important way to enhance speaking skills is to practice public speaking. Learners can do this by practicing in front of a mirror, recording themselves, or retelling something to a friend. If we look at some of the best public speakers, we see that they've spent a lot of time speaking in front of audiences — for example, Barack Obama, Oprah Winfrey, Simon Sinek, Michelle Obama, and Jordan Peterson. Oprah is not only a household name but also known as the queen of conversational ease! Here are the core skills my clients admired the most, which make Oprah stand out:

A confident yet humble delivery. To conclude, if a learner wants to speak well in English, they should practice consistently and with dedication. By building their vocabulary, improving fluency, and developing confidence in public speaking, they will make steady progress toward effective communicationю

A respectful and welcoming approach.

Techniques to engage her audience effectively"

REFERENCES:

1. Yo'ldoshev Umumiy Pedagogika. Toshkent-2017
2. H.T.Omonov, N.X. Xo'jayev, S.A.Madyorova, E.U.Eshchonov. Pedagogik texnologiyalar va pedagogik mahorat". Iqtisodiyot-Moliya" Toshkent-2009
3. Shomirzayev M. X. Developing educational technologies in school technology education // Asian Journal of Multidimensional Research. – 2021. – T. 10. – №. 5. – С. 4.73-79.
4. Bekmuratova U. B. "Ingliz tilini o'qitishda innovatsion texnologiyalardan foydalanish" mavzusida referat. Toshkent — 2012 yil
5. Отабоева, М. Р. Чет тилини о'qitishda zamonaviy innovatsion texnologiyalaridan foydalanish va uning samaradorligi / М. Р. Отабоева. — Текст: непосредственный, электронный // Молодой ученый. — 2017. — № 4.2 (138.2). — С. 36–37. — URL: <https://moluch.ru/archive/138/39058/> (дата обращения: 27.04.2020)
6. Pankov I.P., Zakharov V.P. Information retrieval systems // Applied linguistics. – St. Petersburg, 1996. – P. 334-359
7. <https://cadenza.co/public-speaker/>

