STEREOTYPES BETWEEN UZBEKISTAN AND THE USA

Berdiyev Suhrob

EFL and ESL Instructor Denau institute of entrepreneurship and pedagogy, Qoraboyeva Shohida Normòminova Pokiza

3rd year student of Denau Institute of Entrepreneurship and Pedagogy faculty of Philology, 306-group

Abstract: As we know, there are different kind of stereotypes between Uzbekistan and The USA. A stereotype is a broadly held and oversimplified belief or thinking about a unique team of humans or things. Stereotypes are often primarily based on constrained or inaccurate facts and can lead to unfair generalizations and prejudices. They can be hazardous as they can perpetuate bad attitudes and behaviors in the direction of men and women or organizations based on traits such as race, gender, age, religion, or nationality. It's important to assignment stereotypes and strive to see persons as special and complicated alternatively than becoming into preconceived notions.

Key words: stereotypes, difference Uzbek and American cultures, perceptions, biases, misconceptions, religion, culture shock, cultural generalizations, impact, origins, challenges, understanding, empathy, inclusivity, global community.

Introduction: Uzbekistan and America are two countries with distinct cultures and histories that are often subject to stereotypes and generalizations. In this comparative analysis, we will explore the common stereotypes associated with Uzbekistan and America, and then delve into personal narratives to reveal the complexity and diversity within each culture. There are different and similarity habits. traditions. religions, language,aconomy,culture between two countries.Stereotypes are often emotionally colored by likes and dislikes depending on which the same behavior receives different assessment. One people see mind manifestation, in what other people find cunning demonstration. What one in relation to himself calls persistence, is regarded as obstinacy by a "stranger". Conversely, for many people, a critical attitude to their own national culture and a positive assessment of foreign is typical.

Main body:

Cultural Stereotype Examples

Stereotypes about Uzbekistan:

1. Uzbek people are often stereotyped as being exotic and mysterious due to their Central Asian heritage.

2. There is a stereotype that all Uzbeks are involved in the silk trade or have connections to the Silk Road.

3. Some people may stereotype Uzbeks as conservative and traditional in their beliefs and practices.

4. There is that all Uzbeks are Muslim and adhere strictly to Islamic customs and traditions.

5. Uzbeks may be stereotyped as being reserved or unapproachable due to cultural differences in communication styles.

6.Some human beings from Tashkent assume all other Uzbekistani humans are uncivilised and unhygienic

7.Some people outside of Central some of part think that people from Tashkent are too soft and fragile

8.Some people think that the people from Voha only eat meat These are all stereotypes and don't reflect any of my personal opinons. In fact most of them affected me personally on some points of my life

Stereotypes about America:

1. Americans are sometimes stereotyped as being loud, brash, and overly confident due to the country's assertive culture.

2. There is a stereotype that all Americans are wealthy and live extravagant lifestyles, influenced by Hollywood portrayals. If they drink alcohol, they consider common habit, however in Uzbekistan this kind of habit is not good, because Uzbek people pray Islam religion. In this religion drinking alcohol forbid

3. Some people may stereotype Americans as being ignorant or unaware of global issues outside of their own country.

4. There is that all Americans are obsessed with fast food and unhealthy eating habits.

5. Americans may be stereotyped as individualistic and self-centered, prioritizing personal success over community well-being.

6.They encompass beliefs that Americans are entitled and conceited and that Americans are obsessed with their jobs

7. They encompass beliefs that Americans are entitled and conceited and that Americans are obsessed with their jobs

8.Many Americans believe in the excellence of their country, defending it with the utmost fidelity

9.Americans, who sometimes favor convenience over health, consume food with more added sugars, saturated fats, and sodium, and live in a fast-food culture

Conclusion:

While some of these types of stereotypes may additionally have a kernel of reality to them, it's important to take into account that they are often primarily based on generalizations and assumptions. So before you bounce to conclusions about anybody based on their ethnicity or nationality, it's quality to get to comprehend them first. Stereotypes can motive human beings to make unfair judgments about others, and this finally leads to division, ignorance, and war.

REFERENCE:

1. Guseynova T.A. Phraseological units, charac- terizing a man // Scientific Journal of Chelyabinsk State ressed University "Вестник ЧелГУ". 2010. - № 29 (210). – Р.57-60)

2. Zikova I.V. Gender component in the structure and semantics of phraseological units in modern Eng- lish. Dissertation candidate of science. Moscow State University, 2002. – 219 p. Moscow:

3. Kirilina A. V. Gender: linguistic aspects. - Mos- cow: High School, 1999. 224 p.

4. Kunin A.V. The course of modern English phra- seology. Moscow: High School, 1996.381 p.

5. Teliya V.N. Russian phraseology. Semantic, pragmatic and lingual cultural aspects. Moscow: Sci- ence, 1996.-334 p.

6. Ter-Minasova S.G. Language and intercultural communication. Moscow, 2000. – 264 p

