INTRODUCTION

In today's technological age, it is more important than ever to raise a mature generation that has independent thoughts and protects the interests of the country, because the emergence of religious conflicts leads the nation to quagmire and shakes the state. At the video-selector meeting held by the head of our state on the issues of fundamental improvement of the system of spiritual and educational work, strengthening the cooperation of state and public organizations in this regard, the issues of attention and responsibility for the spiritual education of young people in today's dangerous period were discussed. specific tasks were set before the intellectuals.

Educating the young generation in the spirit of religious tolerance, patriotism, universal traditions and values is the main goal of today. Tolerance is tolerance, being tolerant of other people's lifestyle, behavior, habits, feelings, opinions, ideas and beliefs, in short, respect for other people. Individuals, groups, countries can show tolerance, therefore, it is one of the important issues to raise the ability of toleran In organizing this process, i.e. in educating students in the spirit of tolerance, the role of textbooks and the teacher is incomparable, because through this concept, students have qualities such as mutual respect and non-discrimination of others. embody. Actually, the concept of tolerance is not a concept that appeared in today's century, it is a concept that has been used in the history of mankind for several centuries. Only a country with citizens who embody all human qualities can develop stably and sustainably. Therefore, education of young people, especially the young generation in the process of pre-school education and elementary school students in the spirit of tolerance, is one of the urgent tasks of today.

As we know, the memory of elementary school students is considered a mechanical memory, it is very easy for them to memorize some information and words or small phrases used in daily life, but it is difficult for them to understand and understand the meaning. . Therefore, we can explain the concept of tolerance by staging fairy tales and short stories. It is the concept of tolerance that needs to be deeply explained and taught to elementary school students, because the nation is in the hands of the youth. ce among elementary school students.

To educate a tolerant student, it is necessary to develop his worldview first. Elementary school students learn basic concepts of tolerance during etiquette, reading and other similar lessons using modern technologies. In recent years, the concept of tolerance has been widely used in the society, economy, and the field of education, and it can be seen that it is necessary to deeply inculcate this concept in every elementary school student and educate them in the spirit of tolerance. First of all, the tolerance of the teacher is felt by the students as well will encourage its formation. An atmosphere of respect for representatives of other religions and cultures is created in students by reading examples and excerpts from foreign works. Using a variety of games to create an environment of tolerance in the classroom or school can be highly beneficial.

As the first President said, "Every person is determined by his nationality, language and religion Nazar comes to this world to live happily. There are many factors that are a condition and guarantee of achieving such a lofty dream. But among them, there is one factor that gives meaning to our life, makes it more bright and pleasant, and if it is there, a person can make his own house, his country beautiful and prosperous in every way, and become his own. It is evident that he lives contentedly and contentedly. At the core of these are qualities such as tolerance, forgiveness, living with mutual respect. The virtue of tolerance of our people is to strengthen the independence of our country, increase its stability and further develop development is of great service. In order to educate elementary school students in the spirit of tolerance, it is possible to teach them by different methods, i.e., by organizing competitions, presentations, festive events in the classroom by dividing them into groups. For example, it is possible to conduct a roundtable discussion on the topic "Culture of other nations", for this, students in the class are divided into groups, and representatives from each group express their opinions. Another reliable method of teaching tolerance is the teacher's it is to prepare a presentation about the national costumes, food, and customs of the eastern or western countries, because they have more imagination when they see it through the eyes of elementary school students, than heard.

It should be emphasized that education of elementary school students in the spirit of tolerance depends not only on the professional skills of teachers, but also on the environment in which they grow up. In order for this process to be successful, the students' parents, as well as neighborhood leaders, neighborhood activists, and people from the surrounding area should participate. In addition to helping representatives of other nationalities in the educational process, and instilling respect and dignity in young citizens of a multi-ethnic country, they should be introduced to culturally, religiously and socially different religions and nationalities. it is necessary to convey information about All students studying in general schools may not understand the meaning of tolerance, despite the fact that teachers conduct practical training, parents and neighborhood activists must be closely assisted in this. It is appropriate to start this task by inculcating the feelings of openness, respect, sympathy and kindness in students in every way, and at the same time eliminating the basis of dislike, envy and mutual disagreements.
